

National Republican.

Arrival of Passengers, Trains.
Morning.	Evening.
Midland express... 12½ Boston, N. Y., & Phila. 1:00
Baltimore & Ohio, 1:00	1:00
New York express... 2:00 Alexandria, 2:30
N. Y. & Phila. exp... 3:00 Alexandria, 3:30
Albany & Schenectady express... 3:30
Alexandria... 4:45
Midland passenger... 6:00 N. Y. & Phila. 5:30
Baltimore... 6:00 Baltimore 5:30
Baltimore & Ohio West... 6:00 Baltimore and midland 5:30
Alexandria... 7:00 Alexandria 6:30
Alexandria... 7:30 Alexandria 6:30
Baltimore & Ohio North and West... 8:00
Alexandria... 11:22 Alexandria 10:00
AT BALTIMORE AND OHIO DEPOT, NEW JERSEY AND ST. LUCAS STREET.
Morning. Evening.
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 1:00 Baltimore & Ohio, 1:00
Western express... 2:00 N. Y. & Phila. 2:30
Baltimore & Ohio... 2:00 Western Mass., 2:30
Baltimore & Ohio Amherst... 2:00 Baltimore express... 2:30
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 3:00
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 3:30
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 4:45
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 5:30
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 6:00
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 7:00
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 8:00
St. L. & Phil. & Bos. exp... 9:00
Arrive daily. Other companies excepted.
For full list of departure of trains, see advertisement elsewhere.

Amusements To-Night.

NATIONAL THEATRE.—The Soldier's Trust.
New Advertisements.
Lost—a gold medal.
Summer Theatre Comique.
Four days' trotting at Bennington.
Bedford Mineral Springs, Bedford, Pa.
English Opera—National Theatre, June 15.
Base-ball—New Bedford vs. Boscombe, to-day.
Box-baseball—New Bedford vs. National, to-morrow.

Indications.

For Middle Atlantic States rising barometer, diminishing northwesterly winds, clear, cloudy, and variable, and occasional rains, followed by warmer, clear, or partly cloudy weather.

HOME AFFAIRS.

CITY NOTES.

Miscellaneous matter on third page.
Regular Congress report on third page.
Boose sends New York papers in advance.
Court calendar and routine legal news on third page.
Liquor laws, 909 Ninth street, for butter, ham, and other fruits.

The Board of Health last evening discussed the different plans for sewer improvements recently submitted to them.

The steamer Jane Moody will make her first excursion to the sea-to-morrow night, leaving foot of Sixth street wharf at seven o'clock. The excursions hereofor have been very fine, and for pleasure, comfort, and substance, cannot be exceeded.

H. M. Tracy, who was arrested by Lieutenant Kelly last Wednesday afternoon, in suspicious character, was tried in the Police Court yesterday. As his friends claimed that he was suffering from mental aberration the court sent him to the work-house, where he will be examined by physicians regarding his sanity.

At a meeting of the seniors of the National Law University held Wednesday evening, a permanent class organization for the ensuing year was effected. Mr. L. C. Crissey was elected president, and Mr. A. E. Bowditch secretary. A resolution complimentary to Professor Wedgewood was also unanimously adopted.

We call attention to the three lots to be sold this evening at half past five o'clock by J. T. Gifford, auctioneer, between N. Street and Fourth street, between N. Street and Broad Island avenue, the highest point on Fourteenth street. These are among the most desirable lots on this fast improving thoroughfare.

ASCENSION DAY.

Washington Commandery, No. 1, at the Church of the Ascension.

In accordance with a custom of several years' standing among the Knights Templar in this jurisdiction, the observance of Ascension Day was distinguished by the attendance of Washington Commandery. No. 1 Knights Templar, in full uniform, and accompanied by the choir, sang psalms divine at the church, when the organist, Mr. Taylor, the Department chaplain, was at the "Nation's Dead." An ode to the "Nation's Dead," by the same author, was sung by the choir. Mr. H. J. Gifford was then introduced and delivered a very interesting and eloquent oration.

THEIR SILENT TENTS.

[Continued from Third Page.]

It is a great privilege to live through such a conflict, and to part in protecting those liberties in peace that your valor won in war.

And let us who deem ourselves more fortunate than those who have perished from this life not forget the lesson that all this teaches us—that though we did not, yet we too must die. Though we have paid the price of the multitude of dangers of war and have lived to aid in times of peace, it behooves us to guide the Government we helped to save, and have outlined our comrades in this transitory existence, we should look well to it that we too may die as honorably as they.

A martial song, "Praise to the Soldier," was then given, after which Dr. Seawall called upon the audience to join in singing "Old Hundred," to which all cheerfully responded, and the grand old hymn was rendered in full style.

After the benediction the ceremony of decorating the graves began, for which duty the veterans of the Home had been selected, and during their pleasant task the choir rendered appropriate songs. At the conclusion of the ceremonies the assemblage dispersed, many of them preferring to stay out in the woods for a while, but the majority return to the city boarder to be in attendance at Arlington.

Incidents of the Day at Soldiers' Home.

The committee arrived promptly at nine at the cemetery, and at half past ten the veterans of the home, marshaled by First Sergeant Durkin, marched to the pavilion which had been prepared with flags at great labor, by Superintendent Matthias Glynn and assistants kindly furnished from the Home. General Potter, the governor of the Home, was an interested spectator of the ceremonies, and, immediately at their conclusion, presented the committee with two boxes of beautiful flowers which Mrs. Hayes had sent from the White House to aid in decorating the graves. These flowers were carefully distributed by members of the committee, directed by the chairman, Rev. Father Kelly, his wife, who took great interest in the proceedings.

One of the ladies of the committee, while engaged in distributing part of the flowers sent by Mrs. Hayes, was assisted by a bright young soldier from the Home, to whom she remarked that their governor, General Potter, would be greatly pleased if she would like to have him invited to the charge. "Oh, yes, Miss," he replied, "we all think everything of him; he is kind and good to us." This assertion is fully borne out by appearances at the Home, and the committee expressed many thanks to General Potter and the veterans of the Home, and also to Superintendent Matthias Glynn for the flowers.

Our marked feature was the singing by the choir while the parties were engaged in decorating the graves. It seemed particularly appropriate and elicited universal commendation.

WISCONSIN MEN IN THE DECORATION CEREMONY.

Representative Williams of Wisconsin, renowned as an orator throughout his state, fully sustained his reputation for scholarly effort and brilliant eloquence; his words held the entire audience spell-bound with interest and carried conviction to their hearts. His oration had added one more to the many tributes he has already received, and the speech of Mr. Tracy, who had charge of the arrangements at Soldiers' Home, also falls from the Badger State.

One of four brothers who volunteered their services during the war of the rebellion, he died at Atlanta in one of the heaviest battles there; though strong, he was disabled by a severe wound in the leg, and was compelled to leave the army. He was a true patriot, and his name is still honored in the annals of the nation.

One of four brothers who volunteered their services during the war of the rebellion, he died at Atlanta in one of the heaviest battles there; though strong, he was disabled by a severe wound in the leg, and was compelled to leave the army. He was a true patriot, and his name is still honored in the annals of the nation.

THE MEETING IN BOOTH'S THEATRE.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The closing ceremony took place to-night in Booth's Theatre. Every seat was filled, and the stage was brilliant with the glitter of military uniforms. General Lloyd Augustus presided, and among others present were General Butler, General McClellan, Major-General H. W. Halleck, General Hancock, General Kiddoo, General Queral, General Fasset, General Joe Hooker, General Robinson, General Shaler, General McCook, General A. J. Terry, General Frey, General M. T. McMahon, General Sharpe, General Webb, and many others.

GENERAL W. T. SHERMAN, who was received with enthusiastic applause, said the moment of to-day was the most glorious day of his life, and that the grandeur of our cause, which he had so nobly served, had been fully realized; pyramids were built for tools of kings; triumphal arches were erected for heroes of the storm, hundreds of persons thronged the cemetery, the stage being occupied by a dense crowd, which could easily be penetrated by the President's party. The gates were opened by an eloquent prayer by Rev. Mr. McLeod, followed by a hymn.

GENERAL BUTLER'S ORATION.

General Dayton introduced Gen. Benjamin F. Butler. Umbrellas were lowered to gain sight of the orator. General Butler then delivered an eloquent oration on "The Private Soldier." The speaker, in an even, manly, savage oration, the memory of the soldier who has been fully cherished; pyramids were built for tools of kings; triumphal arches were erected for heroes of the storm, hundreds of persons thronged the cemetery, the stage being occupied by a dense crowd, which could easily be penetrated by the President's party. The gates were opened by an eloquent prayer by Rev. Mr. McLeod, followed by a hymn.

AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The observance of the Decoration Day of 1878, beginning early in the morning and ending with the ceremonies in Booth's Theatre this evening, is perhaps more elaborate than any of the celebrations of recent years. The great feature of the day was the parade of the first division of the National Guard, the most brilliant and the most numerous, followed by a special train for Washington, and enthusiastic farewells. The other ex-soldiers were soon followed, and in an hour the town was nearly free from stragglers.

REV. FATHER KEANE.

General Dayton introduced Rev. Father Keane. The regular literary entertainment concluded the evening's exercises, consisting of the following well-rendered readings: "In Memoriam," Major Mallet; "Somebody's Mother," Mr. John Bingham; "Bodily of Man to the Romans," Mr. M. J. Cronin; "Mark Twain's Answers to Correspondents," Mr. Ralph Jefferson.

WELL'S MARATHON—FRESH STRENGTHENING PLATE.

PLATES are still the best known. Their curative power far surpasses all others.

HARD TIMES DEMAND ECONOMY; PRACTICE IT BY WEARING YOUR SOLID GOLD WITH JEWELRY.

Mr. Wells' Kid-Glove Cleanser. Price 25 cents per bottle.

DRUGS SUITABLE TO CHILDREN.

Drugs suitable to children, 25 cents, fit and make inexplicable. Eisenman Bros., Seventh and E streets.

15 cent check matting at Julius Lansburgh's.

SAD ENDING TO A SALT.

About four o'clock, yesterday afternoon, a salath containing three young men was struck by a squall opposite East's wharf and upset. The occupants of the craft were thrown into the water and one of them, named Isaac Lewis, a young man about twenty-three years of age, being unable to swim was drowned. The others, who were able to swim, received medical assistance, and were brought ashore. His father, who lives at No. 1311 N. street northwest, was notified, and the lad will be kept near the scene until viewed by the coroner.

50 PANTS to order, size, fit, and make inexplicable. Eisenman Bros., Seventh and E streets.

Forty styles fancy matting at Lansburgh's.

AMUSEMENTS.

Mr. E. B. Hay's Testimonial To-Night. The programme provided for Mr. Hay's testimonial to-night at Lincoln Hall is of the highest order of excellence. Its various musical numbers will be rendered by the well-known artists of the day, and the talented participants in the entertainment will be found Miss Eva Mills, Miss Jessie Bryan, Mr. John Pitcairn, Mr. S. G. Young, Mrs. A. G. Mills, Miss Anna D. Ware, Professors Tweedale, Joyce, Holz, and Reynolds. Chorus by the Washington Singers and instrumental music by Professor Holz's orchestra are also numbered among the attractions of the occasion.

NATIONAL THEATRE—BOSTON IN "THE SOLDIER'S TRUST."

Under the direction of the composer, Mr. J. REMINGTON FAIRLAWNE. Act I.—The Day—The Soldier's Trust. Act II.—The Night—The Soldier's Trust. Act III.—The Day—The Soldier's Trust. Act IV.—The Soldier's Trust. Miss Eva Mills, Mrs. H. V. Ford, and Misses Mary and Anna, Miss Jessie Bryan, Mr. John Pitcairn, Mr. S. G. Young, Mrs. A. G. Mills, Miss Anna D. Ware, Professors Tweedale, Joyce, Holz, and Reynolds. Chorus by the Washington Singers and instrumental music by Professor Holz's orchestra are also numbered among the attractions of the occasion.

INTEREST PAID ON DEPOSITS.

Interest paid on deposits. Special rates on time deposits. J. B. Square & Co., Bankers, 114 Pennsylvania Avenue.

ADMISSION, 25 CENTS.

Four days' trotting at Lansburgh's.

FOOTBALL.

Owing to the rain yesterday afternoon the game advertised to take place between the New Bedford and National, was postponed. The contest will take place to-morrow afternoon, the visitors having decided to remain over in order to give the "Reds" a chance to get even.

The Boathole will play the New Bedford the afternoon of half past four o'clock on the National's grounds. Bradley will not pitch in this game, as he has decided to reserve his strength for tomorrow's encounter, and Evans has been substituted for him. The game will doubtless be an interesting one, and should be keenly patronized.

AT MOUNT VERNON.

About four o'clock yesterday morning the attention of Officer Robert L. King was called to a suspicious-looking fellow lurking in the bushes of a woodland colony called Bowler's Hill, between Jersey City and Elizabeth. The officer took the man into custody and escorted him to the Jersey City station-house, and locked him in his cell.

The following article, from the New Bedford Standard, is copied from the New Bedford Daily Standard:

POINTER'S CAPITAL PRIZE.

From the New Orleans Picayune, May 22.

SECOND CAPITAL PRIZE.

NEW ORLEANS, May 21, 1878. The undersigned certifies that he held for collection for account of George W. Moss, agent of Missouri Express Company, Washington, D. C., one-half of the sum due him, which was $1,000, and $500 of the amount due him under the contract for the delivery of 1,000 bushels of grain to the Missouri Express Company, and that he has received payment of the amount due him.

NOTHING ELSE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned certifies that they hold no account with the New Bedford Daily Standard, and that they have no knowledge of any transaction between them and the New Bedford Daily Standard.

AT LINCOLN.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned certifies that they hold no account with the New Bedford Daily Standard, and that they have no knowledge of any transaction between them and the New Bedford Daily Standard.

POINTER'S CAPITAL PRIZE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned certifies that they hold no account with the New Bedford Daily Standard, and that they have no knowledge of any transaction between them and the New Bedford Daily Standard.

POINTER'S CAPITAL PRIZE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned certifies that they hold no account with the New Bedford Daily Standard, and that they have no knowledge of any transaction between them and the New Bedford Daily Standard.

POINTER'S CAPITAL PRIZE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned certifies that they hold no account with the New Bedford Daily Standard, and that they have no knowledge of any transaction between them and the New Bedford Daily Standard.

POINTER'S CAPITAL PRIZE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned certifies that they hold no account with the New Bedford Daily Standard, and that they have no knowledge of any transaction between them and the New Bedford Daily Standard.

POINTER'S CAPITAL PRIZE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned certifies that they hold no account with the New Bedford Daily Standard, and that they have no knowledge of any transaction between them and the New Bedford Daily Standard.

POINTER'S CAPITAL PRIZE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned certifies that they hold no account with the New Bedford Daily Standard, and that they have no knowledge of any transaction between them and the New Bedford Daily Standard.

POINTER'S CAPITAL PRIZE.

NEW YORK, May 21.—The undersigned